Proverbs 19:13-23

Cara grew up on the mission field in Moscow, Russia. There were times as missionary kids she and her sister would get together with other missionary kids for retreats. When she was fourteen years old, Cara went on one such trip with her missionary kid friends to the Jordanian desert. She had never been in a place like that before and certainly never been in a place with no light pollution. She had never seen so many stars! At fourteen years old Cara could not help but look up into the starry night sky in the desert and think of how amazing God truly is.

Isaiah 40 reminds Cara of Psalm 19:1, "The heavens declare the glory of God; the skies proclaim the work of his hands." The awe and majesty all around point to the goodness of God. God is creator of all and yet God cares for each and every person individually! How amazing is God's great love! When we hope in God, the creator of all, our strength is renewed. We will not grow weary.
